For example, if the list were: [[1,2,3], [1,2,4]] then after sorting, it would become: [[1,2,3],[1,2,4]] I've tried using Arrays.sort, and then merging on the basis of the first element, but that doesn't seem to work. I can also do the sorting and merging at the same time, but I would need to know how many elements are in each array. Any ideas? A: I've tried using Arrays.sort, and then merging on the basis of the first element, but that doesn't seem to work. What you're probably doing is sorting on the arrays themselves, when what you want to do is to sort them based on the elements within them. There's an example of this below: import java.util.Arrays; import java.util.List; public class JavaApplication88 { public static void main(String[] args) { // get list of integers List myList = Arrays.asList(// list of arrays with first element 1 new Integer[]{1,2,3}, // list of arrays with first element 1 new Integer[]{1,2,4}, // list of arrays with first element 2
